

The Indiana law on telemarketing appears to be working quite well - I am concerned that a national law would lessen the restrictions and we would be back to receiving more intrusions to our privacy by telephone.